

When am I Learning?

TRUE

FALSE

Which of these statements are true?

The ability to learn is possessed by humans, animals and some machines.

Learning is the act of getting new (or changing existing) knowledge, behaviours, skills, values, or preferences.

Only children learn - learning stops when we become an adult.

Learning is always led by a teacher.

Learning always happens in a school or classroom.

'Peer learning', where students help each other to learn, can improve our learning.

Learning starts at birth and continues throughout life – we can always learn new things.

You can only learn in silence.