

“Education and the Cultivation of Emotions: Aristotle’s Emotional Syllogism”

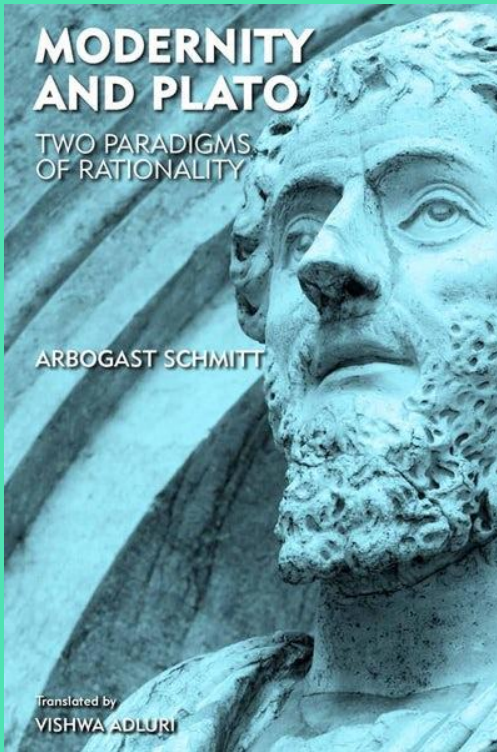

Jubilee Centre for Character and Virtues, June 20th, 2023

Dr. Jörg Schulte-Altendorneburg, Porticus Düsseldorf

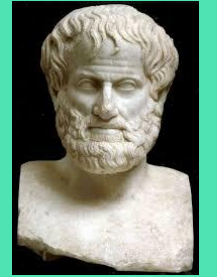

- I. The Platonic-Aristotelian Challenge: Education Means Learning to Distinguish and Feel Appropriately
- II. Cognition and Affect: Aristotle's Theory of Emotion
- III. Action as an Act of Subsumption: Aristotle's Practical Syllogism
- IV. Character, Cognition and Affect: Success and Failure of Human Action
- V. Cultivating Affects: Learning to taste the right things appropriately
- VI. Cultivating Cognitive Ability and Affects through the Experience of Others: The Pedagogical Role of Literature

Further Reading:

Schmitt, Arbogast (2012). Modernity and Plato. Two Paradigms of Rationality, Rochester/NY: Camden House

Contact:

J.Schulte-Altendorneburg@porticus.com